President's Letter

I hope you had a wonderful holiday season with family, friends and loved ones! I look forward to my new position as the second woman club president, and I want to assure you that I am here to make the club the best it can be with the help of all of you! It is not just a club for officers and board members - it's a club for all MEMBERS. I would love that all members new and old would help us make this the best year ever.

I want to thank everyone that helped make our Christmas Plant Sale a big success; Jim and Audrey Kasper, Diane Circle, Kelly Rodriguez, Ed Tuhela, Sherry Doughten, Deb Kramarz and of course Bob McMahon. Without all of the help, this would not have been a huge success. The total income earned was $1,103.60.

Many thanks to Tom Segelin for being the liaison between the club and Bratenahl Place as well as Julie Giroux, for her holiday party table arrangements. The last few months have been a real challenge, but we have been able to get through it.

In any organization, communication is important. I want to hear from you. Please tell me if I have missed something or how I could make the club better. I would love to plan a field trip this year, maybe even 2.

We are still looking for a treasurer, open position. Thank you Hiedi for all your years of service.

Finally I want to thank Steve for all his help and input, hopefully I will be able to do a great job as he did.

Sincerely,
Debbie Daniels

Happy
New Year

Scholarship Recipient Update

Gardeners of Greater Cleveland is incredibly proud of the scholarships they are able to provide to area students. Below is a recent update we received from Hadley Kutsko who received a scholarship from us this past June.

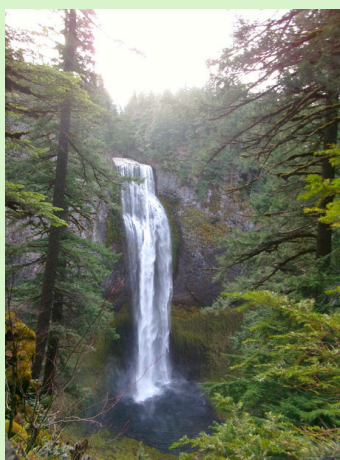

I wanted to email you and update you as well as the rest of the GoGC on how my first term of college has gone. I am absolutely loving the University of Oregon and just Oregon in general. While I know I have only been at school for a short period of time, I have already made some amazing friends I know will last a lifetime.

My favorite class this term was my Food and the Garden class where I spent time tending to my school's Urban Farm and learning about the best ways to garden. We spent a lot of time picking produce like pumpkins and cider apples which all was then donated to the University of Oregon's basic needs pantry. This pantry provides students with access to free fresh produce. Along with picking produce we also planted cover crops and learned about how to best protect soil during the winter months. In this class I also got to make my own apple cider from the apples picked off the tree and make wreaths with leftover crops so as to eliminate waste.

When I'm not studying or going to class I like to spend my time outside enjoying and exploring Oregon's nature. The University of Oregon has a program called the Outdoor Program where students can lead trips and rent outdoor gear at cheap prices. Thanks to this program I am now a trip advisor meaning I am certified to drive a twelve passenger van and lead hiking and camping trips. So far I have led a hiking trip to Diamond Creek Falls which was a huge success and I am so excited to lead skiing trips this winter.

Thanks to the Gardeners of Greater Cleveland I have been able to experience all Oregon has to offer and I could not be more grateful. I have attached some pictures of my garden class and my hikes below. Please let me know if you have any questions about my time at the University or Oregon in general.

Thanks again,
Hadley Kutsko

Further details will be forthcoming soon!

The Power of Beneficial Microbes

For January's meeting, we will be learning about the power of beneficial microbes. Mope Oluwadare is a microbiologist and founder of The Mikrolab in Stow, Ohio. She focuses on transforming local food and plant waste into microbe-rich compost that restores soil life and helps gardeners grow naturally resilient plants. Through her work, she brings together science and sustainability to make composting and soil care simple and rewarding for everyone.
